

EAS: We reinvent it every day.

Tyco is an industry pioneer with nearly 50 years of EAS excellence in retail.

Tyco provides retail customers around the world with Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS) solutions built around the most effective anti-shoplifting technology available.

With the highest detection rate in the industry, our acousto-magnetic (AM) systems provide wide exit coverage and reliable deactivation with virtually no false alarms. Our AM technology can detect tagged merchandise within foil-lined bags – even in metal carts – and can effectively detect protected products containing liquids and non-ferrous metals.

Traditionally focused on loss prevention, Tyco's new EAS systems are designed to provide retailers with significant operational improvements. Our family of item-level RFID solutions enables information accuracy that drives intelligence back into the supply chain to improve existing store operations, increase product availability and enhance the shopper experience. The dual EAS/RFID functionality of these solutions addresses both loss prevention and inventory visibility to help prevent theft while improving the quality of item-level data.

With Tyco, you're choosing a leading global provider of retail performance and security solutions.

retailers choose Tyco

Detection Systems

Detection systems are available as pedestals or concealed antennas to create surveillance zones at exits or checkout lanes. Pedestals offer visible deterrence while concealed systems provide discreet protection for upscale retail environments.

Tyco's premier acousto-magnetic (AM) anti-theft technology offers:

Enhanced Loss Prevention

- // Highest detection rates
- // Wide range of attractive designs
- // Fewer unintended alarms
- // Remote diagnostics

Organized Retail Crime Prevention

- // Metal-foil "booster" detection
- // Jammer detection

Optimized Retail Productivity

- // Remote alarming
- // People counting
- // Networking capabilities
- // Wide exit coverage

Pedestal Systems

Available in a wide range of designs to provide detection coverage for a variety of exits, store aesthetics and regulatory requirements, Tyco's pedestal systems provide the high-performance levels retailers trust.

Concealed Systems

Tyco offers a broad selection of concealed detection systems from wall or door-frame mounted antennas to systems recessed into flooring, hidden under carpeting or laid into concrete. Without impacting store aesthetics, these systems can protect a wide variety of store entrances/exits making them ideal for mall-based stores.

RFID-Enabled Solutions

Sensormatic EAS systems support RFID-enabled inventory visibility whether you choose to upgrade existing systems or deploy our RFID or AM/RFID dual technology devices and tags. With Tyco, you get the world's premier anti-shoplifting technology plus EPC global compliant RFID to gain real-time visibility at the store level. With Inventory Intelligence, you can view your entire store through a single reporting platform to gain new insights that can lead to reduced out-of-stocks, improved efficiencies, better-managed shrink and an enhanced customer experience.

Integrated Deactivators

Scan, deactivate and bag. Invisible to the customer and effortless for the cashier, Tyco's integrated deactivators provide seamless scanning and deactivation compatible with leading bi-optic scanning systems. These units can also be integrated into a variety of self-checkout units to provide high-performance deactivation while maintaining high throughput during checkout.

Counter Top Deactivators

Tyco offers a comprehensive line of reliable deactivators that accommodate a variety of point-of-sale (POS) environments. This includes a line of lower-cost deactivators designed for front-end applications where high-speed throughput is not a priority, but a small footprint coupled with convenient and simple deactivation is paramount.

Labels Applied at the Source

Tyco's Source Tagging programs have protected over 50 billion items worldwide to date, allowing for open merchandising, freeing up associates to focus on customer service and enhancing the shopper experience. We are the largest supplier of source tagging programs encompassing virtually every product category including: apparel, jewelry, footwear, cosmetics, medications, batteries, power tools, automotive supplies, and consumer electronics.

Hard Tag Recirculation

Tyco's industry-leading Visible Source Tagging Recirculation Program helps retailers protect their products while saving on operational costs. Source tagging helps increase product sales and profitability with some of the industry's most advanced, versatile, and reliable solutions including labels embedded into products or product packaging, as well as hang tickets and sewn-in solutions for apparel.

There's a Tyco solution for virtually any application or budget.

Detachers & Tags

Securing merchandise while enhancing the shopping experience is key to controlling shrink and increasing sales. Tyco offers one of the industry's most comprehensive assortments of EAS tags for easy application in the store or at the source. From our trusted SuperTags and magnetic tags to alarming and ink tags, our solutions work for virtually any application or budget. Our Sensormatic safer and wrap anti-theft sensors give retailers confidence to openly merchandise high-value products, helping maximize sales. Tyco also offers a variety of manual and powered detachers that deliver retailers a range of solutions for nearly any point-of-sale environment.
